

Andrew Castle

Former Tennis Player and TV Presenter

"One of the most experienced live sport broadcasters in the UK"

Andrew Castle is a former tennis player and one of the most experienced live broadcasters in the UK. Following his retirement from professional tennis, he became a familiar face on television screens, providing insightful commentary and analysis for major tennis tournaments, including Wimbledon and the US Open.

TOPICS:

- Host and Awards
- Entertainment
- Awards
- After Dinner
- Peak Performance and Success Strategies
- The Psychology of Winning

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

IN DETAIL:

Andrew began his broadcast career as a commentator and broadcaster for Sky before joining GMTV in 2000 where he made the sofa his home for 10 years. At GMTV, he interviewed anyone from Tony Blair to the Rolling Stones, while also leading the stations coverage of the Iraq War and Al Qaeda. Other TV credits include being a contestant on Strictly Come Dancing, Divided and Perseverance, Mastermind, Masterchef, Family Fortunes, The Weakest Link and Mr and Mrs. As a radio broadcaster, Andrew hosted the Breakfast Show on Smooth Radio and Weekend Breakfast on LBC radio station.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Andrew's contributions to the world of sports and media have earned him widespread recognition and respect. His insightful commentary and infectious enthusiasm continue to captivate audiences, making him a beloved figure in both the sporting and broadcasting communities.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

A true professional, Andrew is a relaxed speaker well loved by audiences for his down to earth and pragmatic approach.