IN DETAIL:

Through the "Fight for Peace" initiative, Nicola encourages people of all ages and abilities to join their local sports clubs. As a result, participants benefit from improved health, confidence, and community connection. Furthermore, Nicola actively supports several charities to increase opportunities for young people and women in sport and boxing. Consequently, her efforts help promote equality and inclusion across athletic spaces. Away from the ring, Nicola has become a popular and relatable TV personality. For example, she has appeared on entertainment programs across BBC, ITV, Channel 4, and Sky. Notably, she featured in the BAFTA-nominated Gogglebox and Bear Grylls: Wild Adventure. Moreover, in 2020, she made history on BBC's Strictly Come Dancing by joining the show's first same-sex pairing. Since then, she has continued breaking new ground. Most recently, she launched her documentary Lioness: The Nicola Adams Story. In fact, this film further cemented her legacy.
